

Family Counseling

During the process of family counseling, there may be times when the counselor feels it would be beneficial to the family to share information that one of you might tell him or her in an individual session.

With this understanding, I, _____ give my permission for my counselor to share information with myself or family at his/her discretion.

Name

Date